

Neelam Dadhwal

Again the Sky

Today showered again the sky
I wondered if soaking the streets I choose to ignore.

Small leaves sprout
and crawl inside me,
branches spread out,
straws are collected
nests are created.

Lone pathway on feet
speck of air or earth so full,
and my own heart's silence
in this moment's time.

Neelam Dadhwal is a poet from Chandigarh, India. Her poems has been published in Readomania, Kritya, Muse India, Indian Poetry Review, Literary Yard, The Unknown Pen and anthologies on women international, peace and humanity. Her latest book, "Footprints" deals with aspects of womanhood.

As a haiku poet, she has been published in Contemporary Haibun Online, Atlas Poetica, Living Haiku Anthology, Haibun Online, World Haiku Association. Her work as a Shahai artist has been exhibited in two group exhibitions in Chandigarh and Panchkula in 2015.

---

---

Contemporary Literary Review India

The journal that brings articulate writing for articulate readers.

CLRI is published in two editions (1) online quarterly (eISSN 2394-6075) (2) print annually (ISSN 2250-3366). CLRI is one of the leading journals in India and attracts a wide audience each month. CLRI is listed/indexed with many reputed literary directories, repositories, and many universities in India. We promote authors in many ways. We publish, promote and nominate our authors to various literary awards. It is absolutely free to register, submit and get published with CLRI.

Subscriber to CLRI

Get your book reviewed by us.

Donate to Us

---